

ESDI:
From Inspiration
to Implementation

12th EC-GI&GIS Workshop

Innsbruck, Austria
21-23 June 2006

From Inspiration to Implementation

- ..we made the first steps for the development of INSPIRE implementing rules
- .. we observe progressive adoption of INSPIRE principles across Europe at European, National, Regional and, in few cases, also at Local level
- .. we observe an increasing interest at international level towards the INSPIRE architectural model and the INSPIRE processes
- .. we observe an increasing dialogue between different thematic communities

JRC SDI

first steps for progressive implementation

- A new Spatial Data Infrastructures Unit in Jan06
 - to institutionalise the field of SDIs which is greatest significance for environmental reporting and monitoring
- JRC is moving to develop a JRC SDI following INSPIRE principles
 - JRC INSPIRE Network set-up in 2005
 - JRC SDI action foreseen in JRC FP7

Joint Research Centre

International dimension

- Mou with FGDC and Natural Resources Canada
 - To collaborate on SDI baseline definition
 - To jointly support standard development
 - Avoid duplication & Splitting work on basis on individual priorities
 - To test standardisation action though specific international pilots
- Active participation in GEOSS
 - Wg Architecture and Data
 - Wg Science and Technology
- Launch of the International Journal for SDI Research

Awareness Raising and Capacity Building Programme – first steps

- National INSPIRE Information Days
 - To be organised by local organisers
 - To be held in natural language
 - To be open to all National/Regional/Local INSPIRE stakeholders
 - To be based on a standard package provided by EC
- Baseline of Information Days
 - Tested in March 2006 in a workshop co-organized by JRC, Nemoforum and CENIA, which took place in Prague (CZ)
- International workshop
 - To discuss outcome of Czech event and fine tuning of National Information Days baseline
 - Open to organisations aiming to organise Information Days
- Support to Vespucci Summer School
